Julia Bialek specialises in dispute resolution, litigation and arbitration.

Before joining SPANGENBERG, she completed her legal traineeship (Referendariat, Second German State Exam, Lower Saxony 2023) with stages at the firm as well as the Federal Foreign Office in the department for General Public International Law. Furthermore, her legal training led her to the German Embassy Bogotá (Colombia), where she specialized in Human Rights Affairs. Prior to her legal traineeship, she worked as a research assistant in the Complex Disputes Team at Luther Rechtsanwaltsgesellschaft in Hamburg.

Julia Bialek studied law at the University of Hamburg (First German State Exam, 2020) including an exchange semester at the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid in Spain, where she focused on Spanish Civil as well as Public International Law. Her article “Evaluating the Zero Draft on a UN Treaty on Business and Human Rights: What does it Regulate and how Likely is its Adoption by States?” was published by the Göttingen Journal of International Law in 2019. Since her studies, Julia Bialek has been involved with the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court. Participating and Coaching led her to the International Rounds in Washington, D.C. (USA) twice. She continues to support the Jessup by serving as Judge at National as well as the International Rounds.

Julia Bialek’s working languages are English and German. She also has a very good knowledge of Spanish as well as basic knowledge in French.
