Isla Brose specialises in dispute resolution, litigation and arbitration. She advises companies and individuals on complex disputes across all areas of business and commercial law and also acts as an arbitrator.

Before joining SPANGENBERG, Isla Brose worked in the Dispute Resolution practice at CMS Hasche Sigle from 2018 to 2026, where she was promoted to Counsel in 2021. She advised on disputes relating to the energy sector, commercial law, contract law, and a wide range of commercial law matters. During this time, Isla Brose was seconded to the legal department of Spotify AB in Stockholm. Previously, she spent two years in the Hamburg office of Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan, where she advised on commercial disputes as well as mass litigation.

During her legal traineeship (Referendariat, Second German State Exam, Hamburg 2015), Isla Brose worked in the Litigation & Trial Department of Latham & Watkins LLP in London and in the Legal Department of the Federal Foreign Office in Berlin.

Isla Brose holds a Master's degree from the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) (2011–2012), where she focused on International Arbitration and Public International Law. Prior to this, she studied law at Humboldt University in Berlin (First German State Exam, Berlin 2010).

Isla Brose's working languages are English and German. She also has a good working knowledge of French, as well as basic knowledge of Italian and Russian.
